

If you like Divergent

If you like Divergent

The Maze Runner by James Dashner

Thomas awakes in The Glade, a community of boys trying desperately to survive and escape from the giant labyrinth that surrounds them. Every month a new member arrives in the supply elevator, but things change when a girl arrives in the elevator box with a note: She's the last one. Ever.

Uglies—by Scott Westerfeld

In this novel, when you turn sixteen, you undergo an operation to make you beautiful. But what happens if you don't want to have the operation and just want to be yourself?

Gone—by Michael Grant

Everyone disappears. Everyone over fifteen. Hunger, bullies, and sinister, mutating creatures appear. Even the children left behind start to ... change. Which side will you be on?

Legend—by Marie Lu

Fifteen-year-old June will one day be in the Republic's highest military circles. Fifteen-year-old Day is the Republic's most wanted criminal. From different worlds, they have no reason to meet, but as the two uncover the truth, their country seeks to keep its secrets.

The 5th Wave—by Rick Yancey

Aliens have come to the planet. In the 1st wave, it was darkness. The 2nd, the lucky escape. The 3rd, the unlucky survive. 4th, trust no one. As the 5th wave approaches, Cassie runs from Them, the aliens who look human. And that makes everyone the enemy.

The Young Elites—by Marie Lu

Some survivors of the illness are left with scars, scars with incredible powers. But not everyone wants these new mutants to survive.

Red Queen—by Victoria Aveyard

Mare is a red blood, and so she and her family must serve the Silver-blooded elite. When she's thrown into the King's court, she discovers abilities that she shouldn't have....abilities only Silvers have...